Breed Theatre.

The Lion's Den, which will be shown at the Breed theatre today with Bert Lytell as the star, is the second of the clever stories by Frederick Orin Bartlett, which Metro has adapted for their versatile star. The lion's Den, Mr. Lytell enacts the role of a young clergyman who desires to build a club, equipped with all the things a boy desires, and keep the younger members of his congregation from spending their time on the streets. His efforts to fire the wealther members of his parish with his ideals and estimusiasm prove futile. Their passiveness in a matter which he considers of vital importance spurs him on to further effort and to show them that he can accomplish what they refuse to do he enters the "lion's den of commerce." How his success eventually comes, through love and loyalty is shown in a series of dramatic and humorous incidents other pictures on the bill include Peggy Hyland in The Rebellious Bride, a five-part comedy-frama full of fun and bubbiling with thrilling incidenta and a Harold Lloyd comedy entitled Back to the Woods.

Majestic Roof Garden.

The Majestic Roof is drawing large crowds each evening to enjoy the dancing and spiendid Feature programme of pictures. There will be another fine attraction on the roof tonight when that great actress. Norma Taimadge, will be shown in a five-part feature entitled Children in the House. It is a great play and gives this talented woman one of the best roles she has ever played. The last episode of The Master Mystery, with Houdini, will be shown tonight. This was a fine serial, and all the patrons of the Auditorium theatre who have followed this serial are requested to see it tonight, as it will be shown one night only. Rowlands Jazz Band continues to draw great crowds for the dancing. This is a very popular orchestra, each and every member being a finished artist. Smoking is permitted on the roof garden and all kinds of good refreshments are served. So give yourself a real treat, enjoy the hot summer evenings where the admission is only 15 cents. Tax 2 cents. Dancing begins at 15.55.

POETRY

THE PLAYMATE. In the blankness of midnight.

When I wake to the sound of rain,
Even then I know in a flash,

"He will never come home again."

Not a child in the township But has heard the story told. And Seen on the village service flag Its one proud star of gold.

Speak with a solemn pride the son who gave his life in France And mourn the boy who died.

"Master comes back today?" Yes. we bear our losses bravely; But when those eyes of brown Beg for the romping schoolboy, Oh, then the tears roll down. -Dora Read Goodale, in the New York

Build on resolve, and not upon regret.
The structure of the future. Do not grope
Among the shadows of old sins, but let.
Thine own soul's light shine on the path of hope
And dissipate the darkness. Waste no tears. And dissipate the unraneous tears.
Upon the blotted record of lost years.
But turn the leaf and smile, oh, smile to see
The fair white pages that remain for
